2012 Idaho AGC Education Foundation Scholarship Applications now available

The mission of the Idaho AGC Education Foundation (IAEF) is to attract and retain quality workers in the construction industry. IAEF serves Idaho by providing direction and support to educate and train Idaho's existing and future construction workforce. The annual award of student scholarships is one of the major ways in which IAEF achieves its mission.

Scholarships are available to:

- Students of career, technical and apprenticeship education programs that result in a skilled crafts certification.
- College freshmen, sophomores, and juniors pursuing, or planning to pursue a two, four, or five-year degree program in an Idaho construction and/or civil engineering program.
- Graduating High School Students entering post-secondary Construction Education.

All scholarship recipients are selected on the basis of academic performance, skill craft training and aptitude, extracurricular activities, employment experience, financial need, and a demonstrated interest in a construction industry career. Schools must be located in Idaho. Applications are reviewed by the IAEF. Applications are now available and have a May 11, 2012 submission deadline. Applications can be requested by emailing safety@idahoagc.org

Construction Employment Hits Two-Year High in January But Industry's 17.7 Percent Unemployment Rate Remains Double Overall Rate

The construction industry added 21,000 jobs in January, as a second consecutive month of unseasonably mild winter weather helped the industry raise employment to a two-year high, according to an analysis of new federal employment data released today by AGC. Association officials cautioned that the gains remain fragile amid declining public sector investments in construction and infrastructure.
